

Professor Andy Chun
Adjunct Professor, City University of Hong Kong
Exco Member, Vice-President (Emerging Technologies), and Convenor of the AI Specialist Group, Hong Kong Computer Society
Regional Director, Technology Innovation, Prudential Corporation Asia

Biography:

Professor Andy Chun is a leading Artificial Intelligence (AI) pioneer and global visionary with over three decades of technology innovation experience. Chun is a seasoned senior executive and a broad technologist in a range of industries, including finance, insurance, health, transportation, education, and government. His experience spans academia, industry, consulting, and start-up operations. Currently, he is with the global financial services group Prudential plc as the Regional Director of Technology Innovation for Asia. Chun provides leadership in the use of AI for digital transformation and to improve customers' health and wealth. Chun is also an honorary Adjunct Professor at City University of Hong Kong, where he previously served as its Chief Information Officer. Chun received numerous AI and ICT awards, including the HK CIO Award and the Top 5 Greater China CIO Award. He is also a senior advisor to the HK Government on AI and IT strategies. He is currently the Convenor for the Hong Kong Computer Society's AI Specialist Group, promoting AI and advising the Government on policies. Chun holds a Ph.D. in electrical engineering from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and attended executive MBA training at Boston University.